

Erba Mannheim

ERBA Mannheim, a global company providing affordable and innovative healthcare solutions for developing and underdeveloped countries, appointed Office Profile to fitout their new offices in Brentford, London.

The client was looking to set up a new London office, and on contacting Office Profile they chose to secure the 8th floor at Great West House in Brentford. Within the brief, the client expressed that they wanted the office to have an open plan feel with inviting, modern décor. There were various areas involved in the project including meeting rooms, a boardroom, an open plan office space, a teapoint with a breakout area, collaboration points, private office spaces and phone booths. In the reception area, we mounted a backlit company logo onto a marble-effect wall panel to create a stunning effect when entering the office. To form the walls for the individual areas, Office Profile installed full height glass partitioning with manifestation to ensure that we achieved the open feel the client requested. We based the design of the manifestation on cities from around the world and chose a colour scheme which worked in harmony with the company's corporate branding.
